The Secretary of War and Mrs. Lamont gave a very beautiful dinner last night in honor of the President and Mrs. Cleveland.

There was a suggestion of spring in the flower decorations of the table to match the balmy atmosphere which prevailed yesterday. The table, laid with twenty-four covers, was circular in shape. The centerpiece was of daffodils, the low crystal lamps had shades that were strewn over parlors. The lamps were burning under shades of white strewn with violets and some others with buttercups, and these colors dominated in everything possible, harmonizing perfectly with the permanent yellow tints of the room. In keeping with the occasion, the hostess was elegantly

A children's party took place on Monday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dennison, 306 I street, it being the seventh birthday anniversary of their son Arthur. In answer to invitations some forty or more responded. There were the usual games, dancing and songs incidental to all such gatherings, and then the merry group was ushered into the dinning room where the birthday feast was served. The cake decorated with pink ribbons and varinent home, so far as public duties permit her to have a home, she warmly appre-ciates all efforts made here to strengthen where the birthday least was served. The cake decorated with pink ribbons and various colored candles to the number of years of the young host, was the central figure.
